

LUDLOW CREEK

Ludlow Creek is a group of five close friends who have been delighting audiences since 2013. Their artful songwriting and intricate vocal harmonies combine elements of Americana, Rock, and Blues, and has earned them recognition from industry associations such as the International Singer-Songwriters Association (ISSA) and Nashville's Josie Music Awards. Their awards include winning the 2024 Josie Music Awards Song of the Year in the Americana Duo/Group category with their song "Mercy", winning a 2023 ISSA Band of the Year award, and winning a 2022 ISSA album of the year award for their first album "Hands of Time". They were also multi-category finalists for both the Josie and ISSA Music Awards in 2023 and 2024. In the studio and on stage, band members have played with BB King, Doc Severenson, Gary Rossington & Ricky Medlocke, Bonnie Bramlett, and other national artists.